HEATHROW EXPANSION

Posted on October 25, 2016

In a major boost for the UK economy the government today announced its support for a new runway at Heathrow – the first full length runway in the south-east since the second world war. The scheme will now be taken forward in the form of a draft 'National policy statement' (NPS) for consultation.

The full announcement can be read here

The announcement will inevitably create new development opportunities in the west of London. Do you have a site near Heathrow? Now is the time to call us so we can provide advice on how to secure permission for your new development. Contact us today.
